

Mestrom designed her office to not only include functional built-in storage but to provide a peaceful retreat. The chair from James Lane is covered with a woollen rug woven by Mestrom.

In the dining area, small bronze maquettes sit on the table, while clerestory windows flood the space with light and offer views of the surrounding bushland.